

JAMIE PHILLIPPE, CFRE

Jamie Phillippe, CFRE, provides fundraising and nonprofit management consulting through Phillippe Consulting, LLC and through the Alford Group, a national consulting organization located in Chicago, Seattle and New York.

From 2008 to 2016, Phillippe served as vice president of development and donor services at The Chicago Community Trust, where she oversaw a $1 billion campaign (that secured $1.65 billion) for one of the nation's largest and oldest community foundations. Prior to the Trust, she served as vice president of external affairs for the Museum of Science & Industry where she led strategic planning, fundraising, membership, government affairs and institution-wide initiatives. She joined the museum from the Alford Group where she served as senior vice president and national marketing director from 1992-1995. Prior to 1992, Phillippe was vice president of Sumner Rahr & Company, a Chicago-headquartered fundraising consulting firm, and was vice president at Bellarmine University in Kentucky and directed development operations at the Louisville Ballet.

Phillippe is currently a member of Butler University's Board of Trustees, and a member of the Advancement Committee for the Coastal Community Foundation. She has served on the boards of the Chicago Foundation for Women, Common Cause, Cancer Wellness Center, North Park University's Axelson Center for Non-Profit Management, Arts and Business Council of Chicago, and Kittleman & Associates, an executive search firm. She has taught fundraising and nonprofit management at Forefront, has headed the Institute of Non-Profit Management at DePaul University, was formerly the dean of the Managing Institutional Advancement Program at the University of Chicago, and has taught at the University of Notre Dame. She is actively involved in the Chicago Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals, where she served as president. She was honored with the AFP Benjamin Franklin award for long-standing service and leadership to the nonprofit community.

Jamie Phillippe earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Butler University and a Master's degree from the University of Louisville. She is based in Charleston, South Carolina and in Chicago, Illinois.
